“ I came to know Chet when he married my sister Nancy. He was such a great brother-in-law. He was ever the perfect gentleman who knew how to make everyone he was around enjoy themselves and feel at ease with being just who they were. He was a deep thinker, a wonderful story teller, a the perfect husband and soul-mate for my sister. It didn't matter what the topic of conversation, Chet was knowledgeable in it. He loved the Lord, loved good preaching and good books about a variety of subjects. he was in the classical sense, a well educated man, a critical thinker, and practically wise. In short, my family and I profited immensely from knowing Chet. I am glad he was a part of our family. May God bless all of the Rose family, whom we have come to know, love, and highly esteem.

“ It is with the utmost honor and highest privilege to have known Chet while he lived in Seattle with his wonderful wife Jean and amazing children...all whom he loved deeply. Chet was never shy to personally invest in people he believed in, and both my wife and I were proud recipients of his wisdom, generosity, talent, and love. (Including Jean's wonderful cooking!) His legacy lives on with us and so many others.

The first word that comes to mind when we think of Chet is 'noble', Yet with that 'nobleness', Chet knew the privilege and responsibilities of loving the Lord, his family, and his country.

We extend our deepest and loving condolences to Chet's entire family for this great loss, however we know the saints are rejoicing in heaven, as Chet's soul is now eternally at home with God and his Lord and Savior Jesus.
