“ My mom had such a beautiful soul. Willing to always do for others and love others as her own. She was my best friend in life and I adored her to the moon and back. It has been a rough 2 years and a rougher last 2 months. She is now resting with her true love and the love of her siblings and family that have gone before her. I so love you mom. You left and took a piece of my heart with you. I am happy that you are not hurting anymore though and you are finally resting. Until we meet again.
