“ We moved to North Carolina 31 years ago. Pat was the first real friend we made here. For over 30 years we shared good times and sad times. But most of all fun times. We will miss Pat's humor and her kindness. When my mother had to go into assisted living Pat took long curtains from her apartment and made them into short curtains for her new home. She used her many skills to add happiness to people's lives. We both enjoyed our many conversations together. We shared family stories, craft ideas and so much more. We did a lot of laughing together. Pat's sense of humor was wonderful. We miss you and love you Pat.

“ My MawMaw! You truly were the light of anyone’s life you came across. You taught me so much, and always pushed me to be my best! Your character was one of a kind! You were so elegant , witty, clever, genuine, funny, god you were so funny! You had a grace about you that was beautiful beyond words . There was not a person you wouldn’t help! And could fix just about everything. Mostly you were unapologetically YOU! The best mawmaw & GREAT Mawmaw you were no doubt! Let’s not forget how amazing your green thumb was, you could grow and decorate everything ! Wasn’t nothing you couldn’t fix up, everything your hands touched became gold! I never thought about the time when I wouldn’t have you here , and life changing is to say the least that you’re not . They don’t make them like you anymore that’s one thing for certain. And seeing all your friends kind words , and stories you truly were one remarkable , talented , special , courageous, strong , brilliant women! I know you’re up there leaving your mark . Im for certain the gates of heaven , I know have already been redone , like no other , with golden bows everywhere, and god can’t stop you , he’s just like yup Pats’ here guys get ready :) if heaven wasn’t already the most beautiful place , I know it shines so much brighter cause you are there! I love you so much ! I hope you always know , just how much you mean to me and my kids ! I can’t wait to see you again and see your angel wings! I miss you terribly! Fly high mawmaw , until we meet again!

“ Pat and I were friends for over 55 yrs. We met at work and later had babies born one week apart, same as Pat and me. Although I moved away from NC many years ago, we stayed in contact regularly and visited on my return trips. Pat had the greenest thumb I have every known. I know she is already revamping the heavenly gardens. I love you my dear friend, and miss you terribly.

“ Patricia Ann was an amazing and one of a kind friend. She and I had so much in common, the most of which we called "thrifting". Our favorite thing to do was to check out as many thrift stores as possible. We went on many thrifting trips. 100 mile yard sales in Kentucky and other times in Georgia. Of course, we never made the 100 miles! When she would visit my home in Inman, SC, we would thrift, sit on my "veranda" as she called it and just talk. We laughed and shared so many memories. She loved my son, Tyler, and even adopted him as her "nephew". She was always so happy to see him and he was always happy to see her. Patricia Ann will be dearly missed. I find myself wanting to call her and then realize I can't. My faith tells me I will see her again one day. Rest in peace my dear friend. I love you and miss you dearly.

“ Pat and Tracey would come to Hudson flea market in myrtle Beach South Carolina to visit with us, meaning Odis and Karen and we would have a good laugh when she would buy kitchen gadgets and would always tell us she didn't use them just liked them and then would call us to see if we wanted any of them back. She was a very pleasant person and we will miss her. Rest in peace pat. Odis and Karen “ Pat and I met when she was 18 and I 19. We have remained friends throughout our lives. We loved our plants, crocheting and sewing and traded ideas with each other through both visits , the telephone, texts sharing and the internet. Pat was truly a wonderful, thoughtful caring mother, grandmother, great grandmother and a real friend to all of us who loved her. She let us know in all of her many ways. She loved and cherished her entire family and devoted her life to them . I will miss her in so many ways and know she is at peace with our Lord. I love and miss you Pat.
