“ Bob was a good friend during all the years we worked together, and that was many. He was extremely good natured, and had a very good demeanor when it came to work. He was one of the most knowledgeable people I know when it came to engineering and construction. Even after we both retired, we kept in touch and helped each other out with technical problems when needed. I will miss him. My heart and prayers go out to his family.

“ Bob was always a very good friend all the years I worked with him (and that was many). I found him to be extremely soft spoken and honest, even though he was one of the most knowledgeable people I know in the engineering and construction field. Since we both retired we have kept in touch and helped each other out when needed. I will really miss him. My heart and prayers go out to his family.

“ I met Bob in 1997 and was immediately impressed with his kind nature and vast construction knowledge. His personal and professional skills benefited not only his company, but the construction crews he monitored on our behalf. A true gentleman in every way.
